

UCaaS - Evolved Office Seat

The Evolved Office Seat is a cloud-based communications solution that frees your business from managing carriers, phone systems and vendors by providing an enterprise IP PBX, advanced end-user features, and world-class voice services to any user, in any location, for a predictable monthly fee.

By leveraging Evolve IP's unique carrier access cloud, or your existing Internet connections, businesses can enjoy the flexibility of hosted services with the quality and control of on-site equipment – eliminating maintenance headaches and increasing up-time. And since your PBX resides in the cloud, your customers will reach you, not a fast-busy signal, when there is an issue at your location.

Unified Communications is delivering features and applications to end users on any device, anywhere in the world, for a seamless communications experience. Some of the most common UC applications are email, voicemail, desk phones, soft phones, video calling, instant message, presence, audio and web conferencing, CRM integration, and mobile integration.
